Notes for RAYMOND LEE TAYLOR:
R. L. (Raymond Lee) Taylor
The body of R. L. Taylor, 41, was found a little after 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in a small briar patch near his home on the Cherryville Road.

Earlier in the morning he had borrowed a gun from a negro, telling him he wanted to go hunting. The gun was found under his body, the bullet having pierced the heart. Nearby a small forked twig was found, probably used by Mr. Taylor in discharging the gun. His shirt and jacket had been pulled away and the gun held next to the skin. The negro reported hearing a shot about 9 o'clock in the morning, and when Mr. Taylor did not return for lunch, a search was started, with his son finding his body.

Mr. Taylor had been suffering ill health for several years. H had been in charge of the John Dering Implement and Tractor business next to Whitson's Garage.

Surviving are his wife, Lela Sullivan Taylor, and two sons, Joseph and Algje.

Funeral services were held at the Church of Christ in Bells, Wednesday afternoon, interment following in Bellview Cemetery.

Goosman Undertakers in charge.
